

Over to you

*Let your imagination run free with this splendid sketch from Alison Berrett, inspired by a run in Wytbam Wood.
She writes...*

“There is something so compelling about being out in the woods, especially at this time of the year when there are the wonderful deep and fresh smells of damp leaves and earth. I especially love the knobbly structures of the beech trees, standing so sturdy in their quirkiness. Without their leaves, we get an opportunity to see the strength and solidity beneath. I have very many memories of walks in the woods that were behind the house I lived in
